As a Result of the Proposed Blockade, British Interests in Siam Would Suffer Severely—Lord Dufferin Has An Audience With M. Develle in Paris.

LONDON, July 27.—England has an adequate fleet for the East India and China stations, numbering twenty-eight vessels, including the imperious cruiser of 7,800 tons. France can only muster nineteen vessels, of which the largest is only 4,700 tons.

It is believed that M. Develle hopes that his pacific blockade will induce Siam to surrender at discretion. Should Siam still resist, and the blockade be made effective, British interests would suffer severely.

The London merchants interested in the Siam trade have forwarded a joint letter to Lord Rosebery, pointing to the injury which will be inflicted by the blockade upon Singapore and Hong Kong. These colonies would become dependent on Saigon for supplies of rice, and thus France will have an interest in benefiting Cochin, China, by a prolonged blockade, which probably would produce a famine, perhaps a native revolt, at Singapore.

Admiral Huxford is about to occupy the island of Kohsiang, in the Gulf of Siam, an important strategic position. He must wait for supplies of coal and ammunition before he can take hostile action.

A Paris dispatch to the Times says: "Lord Dufferin had an audience with M. Develle Wednesday evening. A cabinet council was held at 6 o'clock Wednesday evening, but the greatest secrecy was maintained as to what took place at the meeting. Another cabinet council will be held on Saturday next."

PARIS, July 27.—The French cruiser Eclairer has been ordered to Brest to be fitted out with new armament. She will proceed thence to join Rear Admiral Hamann's flotilla.

A MIDNIGHT DUEL.

Two Parisian girls, who quarreled about their work decided to settle it in that manner.

PARIS, July 27.—A duel was fought in the streets Wednesday night by two girls, both of whom are now lying in the hospital severely wounded. They are about sixteen years of age, and are employed in a card board box factory. They quarreled over their work on Tuesday and decided to settle their differences by a duel. The time and place in the Rue St. Martin at midnight. At the appointed hour both girls arrived on the scene armed with pistols. The struggle was a desperate one, the girls playing their knife into the other's shoulder and receiving a wound in the face, the knife passing through her nose and penetrating her brain.

DISTRIBUTION OF FOOD

To the Idle Men of Denver, Col.—FIFTY CENTS.

DENVER, July 27.—The scenes around the Haymarket mission on Wednesday, when food was distributed to idle men, was pitiful in the extreme. Well-dressed men of good appearance, absolutely penniless, and in the immense hall beside bums and impostors, while many charitable persons assisted them. Women are walking the streets asking for something to do to get food for their children. The local passenger association Wednesday night agreed to a five dollar "charity" rate to Missouri river points, and ten dollars to Chicago and St. Louis. Hundreds of poor men who have never known what it was to be idle, are tramping out of the mountains and toward the east.

THE BLOCKADE

Of the Siamese Coast by the French Fleet to Begin Sunday or Sunday.

PARIS, July 27.—An interview of importance took place Wednesday between the Chinese chargé d'affaires and the chief officials of the foreign office. It is known that China opposes the claims of France in Siam, and that was the subject discussed. The result of the interview has not been made known. It is stated that an effective blockade of the Siamese coast by the French will only begin on Saturday or Sunday next. Until then the powers will not have received notice of France's intention to establish a blockade.

THE KANSAS MINER'S STRIKE

TOPEKA, Kan., July 27.—Gov. Leavelle's private secretary, Fred Close, returned from Weir City Wednesday. He reports every thing quiet. Acting on the order the strike was called off Wednesday, mobilizing the militia has been revoked and Thursday all troops will be sent home. The backbone of the strike, according to Gov. Leavelle, has been broken.

Lord Roberts Summoned to London.

LONDON, July 27.—Lord Rosebery has summoned Lord Roberts, recently commander-in-chief in India, to the foreign office to consult him on the position of affairs in India. A private telegram from Bangkok announces that the British garrison at Mynah has replaced the British force at Bangkok for the protection of British residents.

Dieing to Death.

PORTLAND, Ind., July 27.—Jacob Starr, a farmer living near Blaine, is slowly hiccoughing himself to death. He has been suffering from hiccoughs for some time, and two weeks ago began to hiccough. It has kept up ever since, and will no doubt cause his death.

Carpenter Miss Shot Down.

YONKERS, N. Y., July 27.—Wednesday night the large carpet mills of Alexander Smith & Son's factory, the first time in twenty years. The cause given is the scarcity of money and the many failures of banks in the west.

MOB IN DENVER.

An Italian Taken From Jail, Hunged and Shot to Pieces—He Killed a Grand Army Man.

DENVER, July 27.—The wildest excitement prevails here over the lynching of the Italian who killed a grand army man in a saloon fight here Tuesday night.

Shortly before midnight Wednesday night a number of grand army men were seen gathering in the vicinity of the jail. The authorities received an intimation of a probable raid on the jail and guards were doubled in preparation for an emergency.

The score of determined men in front of the county jail quickly swelled to one hundred, then to one thousand. "Lynch him," they cried, and the shouts of some of the excited members of the crowd.

A full-headed man, wearing the typical grand army hat, forced his way to the front and shouted, "Come on, boys, follow me." And like men ready for battle, they followed their general to the walls of the prison.

One of the deputies appeared and begged the veterans to let the law take its course. He was quickly brushed aside and the mob soon made the best of its way to the cell of the Italian. The prisoner made an attempt to hide under the mattress of his cot but the determined lynchers dragged him forth, and putting a rope around his neck, tied him to a telegraph pole. To mortal sure the work was well done they fired a dozen shots into the body.

During an altercation between the mob and the guards at the prison shot were exchanged and the deputies fled into the crowd, wounding a number of persons. This greatly infuriated the mob and threats were made to raise the jail to the ground, release all of the prisoners and string all the guards to telegraph poles. Thousands of people are gathering in the vicinity of the jail and it appears as though a reign of terror is about to be inaugurated.

In justice to the old soldiers it should be stated that the mob was undoubtedly organized and the riot fomented, not by the veterans, but by the lawless, restless element, thousands of whom are gathered in the vicinity of the jail and it appears as though a reign of terror is about to be inaugurated.

These men are ready for a riot, they are anxious to make trouble and the end is not yet. But little is required at the present time to fire the populace in Denver, and in the words of Gov. Waite, "Blood will flow to the hilt of the lynchers."

FORGED SECURITIES.

Several Chicago Banks Withdrawn Out of $50,000 or More.

CHICAGO, July 27.—One of the most gigantic swindles perpetrated in Chicago in a number of years came to light Wednesday and it is now known that several of Chicago's banks have been mulcted of $50,000 or more by means of forged securities.

The matter first became known outside of banking circles when Daniel H. Tolman, president of the Chicago Trust and Savings bank, at 124 West Washington street, rushed into detective headquarters and informed Sergeant Twombly of the affair.

The old man, it is alleged, has been caught in the trap to the tune of $15,000. A thirty-first street bank loses $2,000, and another and more prominent banking institution, the name of which it is impossible to learn at this time, has been taken in to the tune of $5,000.

MISSING MEN.

Some of the Causes of Mysterious Disappearances.

It is an Easy Matter to Drop Out of the Knowledge of One's Fellow-Men—An Instance Which Was Accidentally Obtained.

It is not an unusual thing to take up one's daily paper and read that some man has gone quietly out of his house to the barber shop or newsstand or some other equally frequented place and has never since been heard from.

It must indeed be an excellent reason that drives a man of average sound mind away from home and friends and causes him to expatriate himself voluntarily. Either he or his have done something for which there is a necessity for concealment or absence, or his mind has become disordered.

In many cases there are double lives, illegal relations or irregular practices that threaten the peace or safety of the individual and lead him to take himself away for the sake of his family or to avoid scandal. Financial irregularities are doubtless accountable for many of these things, but it is safe to assert that unlawful domestic relations are quite as often responsible as monetary conditions. Sometimes there are circumstances that appear to be slowly leading up to exposure, and these so work on a man's mind that he is glad to drop out of sight even at the risk of unhappiness to himself and his family and untold gossip and suspicion in the community where he has been.

When one comes to think of it, writes N. S. Stowell in New York Ledger, it is an exceedingly easy thing to drop out of the knowledge of one's fellow-men.

Some years ago a man was summoned to Europe on business of the utmost importance. Being greatly troubled by the nature of his errand he found it impossible to rest during the first night of the trip. He grew restless and forth shortly after midnight he found himself weary and, leaning against some projecting portion of the deck, fell asleep. He awoke in the sea was slightly rough and he had braced himself to mind as little as possible the roll of the vessel. Standing in the water and perfectly still, he saw a man cautiously saunter down the length of the deck and lean against the railing. Shortly afterward he fancied himself in the water and, turning his head, the man was nowhere to be seen.

For some unexplained and unpleasant reason the impression grew upon the traveler's mind that that man had jumped overboard, but not being of a suspicious disposition he reassured himself that it was highly improbable and that he must be standing somewhere on that portion of the deck. After a time the idea drove all other considerations from his mind, and filled with this strange uncertainty, he passed over to the point where he had last seen the man and carefully examined every portion of that locality, but there was not so much as a trace of a human being to be found. He went back to his first position, took his bearings and started again to look the place over, but about half past five he had fully satisfied himself that there was no one about at least fifteen or twenty minutes must have elapsed, and as the vessel was moving full speed he had passed a long distance from the point where it was that he last saw the man who had dropped out of his range of vision.

Reasoning with himself, he saw clearly that if the man had gone overboard it could be nothing more or less than a premeditated murder. That being the case, such a thing as rescue was practically out of the question. If he gave an alarm and no one was missing, he might be looked upon as a crank. If it proved that a passenger was missing, there might be delays and testimony and no end of confusion, of which it would seriously disarrange his plans.

He finally resolved to say nothing unless inquiry was made of him. His objection to this he would answer what questions he was able. Day after day he waited, but no excitement was aroused in board, no report of an empty berth or unclaimed luggage reached his ears, and the vessel went into port without even the rumor of a man having been lost overboard.

After two weeks the gentleman returned to America, and among the first items he read was the disappearance of a business man, whose affairs, social and financial, were suspected of great irregularities. In size and figure the description tallied precisely with the mysterious individual who had been seen leaning against the ship's rail.

Of course, there was nothing to establish the identity of the two except the fact that the man had been seen within twenty-four hours of the date of the steamer's sailing. But for the anxiety of mind to which the man was a victim, and which led him to his midnight promenade on deck, there might never have been even the remotest clue to the fate of the missing man.

Early Impressions Are Lasting.

Every one must have found how difficult it is to eradicate early impressions, to overcome prejudicial impressions later in life. Our first impressions cling to us with a tenacity which no change of place or situation can destroy. The impressions of our childhood, friends and associations of our youthful days, form images in our remembrance which can never be wholly obliterated. The wandering, nomadic, nomadic country man in his adopted home meet new associations and acquire more wealthy connections and a higher standing in society than he held in the land which gave him birth, still the humble dwelling in which he was reared, the partners of his early joys and sorrows, the habits he was accustomed to in youth, are all "green spots" in his reminiscence, continually watered from the fount of never-failing memory.

FIENDISH DEED.

Mother and Children Killed With a Club.

Then the House Was Fired to Burn the Bodies.

A Five-Year-Old Who Escaped Declared His Father Hit His Mother on the Head Three Times Before the Fatal Blow.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., July 27.—A fearful triple tragedy took place during the early hours Wednesday morning, two children and a mother meeting their fate at the hands of some fiend. It was about 2 a. m. when the South Side fire department was called out to extinguish a slight fire in the house of John Smouse, who lived on Oak alley on the side of the hill. There was but a slight fire and the firemen had no difficulty in extinguishing it. Some of the members of the department in looking about the house were horrified at the sight of three dead bodies, lying close to one another. They were those of Smouse's wife and two small children.

There were three ugly deep dents in the woman's head, which showed that she had been struck a deadly blow from behind. They were on the back of the head, and the fearful wound was finished with some blunt instrument, either a hatchet or a hammer.

The little children had the appearance of having been smothered, to death, though their poor bodies also showed marks of violence. Their clothing was burned, but little, and had they been living when the fire started they would have had no trouble in getting away from the small fire.

The children were Mary and Maggie and were four and two years old respectively. The husband was at once surrounded by the firemen and the police were sent for. He told a story to the effect that he had been sleeping on the floor down stairs, but was awakened by smoke and ran up stairs to extinguish the flames. It was then, he said, that he first discovered the dead bodies of his wife and two children.

The police, however, have a different idea of the crime, and at once placed Smouse under arrest. They were convinced a triple murder had been committed, and say that the murderer set fire to the house to conceal the crime. Smouse is a laborer, thirty-five years of age, and apparently very ignorant. There was one more child in the family, but by some means the little one escaped the general massacre. The bodies of the victims were taken to the Southside morgue and Smouse was locked up in the thirty-eighth ward station-house to await an investigation by the coroner.

The child who was saved is only five years old, but Wednesday morning the weeping boy told the police that his father killed his mother. "He hit her on the head three times with a hatchet," sobbed the little fellow.

The neighbors think jealousy was the cause of the awful deed.

THE COLUMBIA.

First Triple-Scalped Victim—Other Big Ships Under Way.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., July 27.—The first triple-scalped victim of the government, the Columbia, is now practically completed, and has already been examined and pronounced to meet the specifications. The examination board, of which Admiral Fiske is president, it is expected that the speed test will be made Wednesday afternoon. Although several of the government officers who are to be present on behalf of the navy department have not yet arrived at the Great Annapolis. The required speed is twenty-one knots an hour.

The hull of the new cruiser Brooklyn, the hull of which was laid a week ago, is already beginning to assume shape. She will be the sister ship of the New York, although her displacement, 8,100 tons, is just one hundred tons greater than that of her predecessor, and she will also be twenty feet longer. The keel of the battleship Iowa, the last which the Kramps will build under their present contracts, will be laid in a few days. Her tonnage will be 13,300, one thousand tons greater than that of the Indiana.

Drummers at the Fair.

World's Fair Grounds, Chicago, July 27.—Wednesday was the second of the commercial travelers' days at the exposition and they came out with the thousands with their wives, daughters and friends. American flags whipped the breeze from the great ornamental carved-tuff staffs in the court of honor in recognition of the most representative body of Americans which has yet come to the fair and been officially received.

Mother Kills Her Dying Daughter.

Buffalo, N. Y., July 27.—Mrs. Henry Maybach, of Clarence Center, cut the throat of her two-month-old baby Wednesday morning, and then cut her own. Baby was found dead, and a note saying she was afraid it was going to die, and she couldn't live without it, so would kill it and herself. She was a beautiful, accomplished young woman. Her family relations were happy. She leaves a husband and one child.

Four Young Women Drowned.

Baltimore, July 27.—A special says that Maggie Taylor, Lou Johnson, Marian Smith and Nellie Patrick, all young women, were drowned near Maryland's landing, on the Wisconsin river, by the capsizing of a sailboat. Two young men who completed the sailing party saved themselves, one by clinging to the upturned boat, the other by swimming. The bodies were recovered.

Doll Trade Closes at $10.

Wash. Mass., July 27.—The dolls' cotton mills, in this town, will shut down Saturday for the first time, on account of being unable to find a market for their product. The company employs 1,750 hands.

THE MONARCH TERRIBLE EXPLOSION!

Too High Pressure.

In these days of keen competition in every line, when the business man is compelled to bend his intellect and every energy to the success of his business, the clerk, bookkeeper, professional man and laborer, to defend themselves at a terrible rate, there can be but one result—an explosion, which, if not resulting in immediate death, leaves them with shattered brains and bodies. This condition is growing worse every day. The rapidity of the increase is awful to contemplate. Our homes, hospitals, and places of business are full of dangerous explosives, and are being crowded still further. There is but one solution of the matter. Recognize the importance of the situation at once and take the necessary measures to overcome it. If you have failing memory, blotches, dizziness, nervous, headache, biliousness, irritability, melancholy, sleeplessness, fainting, nervous dyspepsia, epilepsy, or know that any one of these symptoms is a symptom of the calamity that may befall you, and even though you have used so-called remedies and treated with regular physicians with little or no benefit, give Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve a trial. It is a remedy that may be depended upon for nervous disorders.

Two years ago I used Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve with marked benefit. My memory, which had been failing for years, returned to its normal condition. My nervous system, which had been in a state of collapse, returned to its normal condition. My health, which had been in a state of collapse, returned to its normal condition. My life, which had been in a state of collapse, returned to its normal condition.

This condition is growing worse every day. The rapidity of the increase is awful to contemplate.
